The Honorable Kuniwo Nakamura
President
Republic of Palau
P.O. Box 100
Koror, Republic of Palau 96940

Dear President Nakamura:

This letter confirms that you have retained our law firm to represent the Republic of Palau in negotiations with the United States Department of Interior on the Palau Road and other matters, and also describes the billing policies and procedures of our law firm. As a matter of firm policy, we send this letter to all of our new clients to acquaint them with our policies and procedures. As you know, the attorney-client relationship works best when there is a clear mutual understanding about services, fees, expenses, statements for services rendered, billing procedures and payment terms.

The principals who will be working on this matter are Denis J. Dwyer and Lorraine Howerton in the Washington, D.C. office, and Norma Wong and myself in the Honolulu office.

All of our firm's lawyers, consultants and paralegals maintain time records regarding their work for each of our clients. The time records are reviewed carefully before bills are sent to our clients. All attorneys, consultants and legal assistants have hourly billing rates which are reflected on our monthly time records. These hourly rates normally are adjusted annually, in October for associates and January for partners. The hourly rates for partners and consultants currently range from $190 to $350, for associates from $105 to $190 and for paralegals from $35 to $85.

Unless otherwise requested, we will bill you on a monthly time and charges basis. Each bill will set forth the amount of time spent on your behalf, the nature of the work performed, and a list of any expense disbursements incurred (e.g., long distance telephone charges, photocopying, messenger charges, postage, word processing charges, etc.). The amount of our billing statement for professional services will be at the fair value of our services, taking into account the time records for the matter, the results obtained, and other relevant circumstances. Our usual practice is to bill at standard hourly rates plus expenses. We use more junior attorneys, consultants and paralegals at lower billing rates whenever it is more efficient to do so, recognizing that it may often be more efficient to use experienced senior partners on particular matters.

It is our policy to provide our clients with the most effective support systems available and to allocate the costs of those support systems in accordance with their usage. In addition to our fees for professional services, a billing statement is provided which includes costs incurred in the course of our representation of your interests, such as long distance telephone; facsimile; telex; messenger, courier and other communications costs; travel expenses, including the cost of transportation, meals and lodging; document reproduction and retrieval costs; staff overtime; computer research facilities; documents preparation on our word processing facilities; court reports; and transcripts. Large disbursement billings, should they occur, may be forwarded to you for direct payment, or we may ask you to advance sufficient funds to cover the expenses of unusually large disbursements.

In accordance with the attached summary proposal, we anticipate that our fees will be no more than $200,000 plus expenses for this effort.

Our statements are due and payable upon receipt, and we expect bills to be paid in full within 30 days of the statement date. We impose late charges of one percent per month on all outstanding accounts receivable over 60 days. If our bills remain unpaid for over 90 days, we may request the client to execute a note, at 12 percent annual interest, for the outstanding indebtedness. We reserve the right to cease representation if a statement remains outstanding for more than 90 days. We recognize that the consequence of not making timely payments for our bills is not a particularly pleasant issue to raise at the start of our relationship, but we believe that our clients are best served if they are aware of our billing policies from the outset.

It is important to us that you feel free to call me at any time if you have questions or concerns about our legal services, about our billing policies in general, or about a particular bill. We are delighted to be of service and look forward to working with you.
